

MASONRY

FINISHING OF AIR DUCT

The air duct is extended over the field of sloping roof and it is finished with special pieces to facilitate the extraction.

The outside duct is cladded with single hollow brick plastered with cement mortar.

You can see a reduction of the gradient into this cladding. On this reduction of the gradient is placed the reinforced lead sheet like waterproof protection, in the join between the sloping roof and the duct.