

MASONRY

PLASTERBOARD CLADDING (direct system)

On the intrados of the enclosure (brickwork imitation) have been spread some grip paste gobs, with the spacing marked for the manufacturer, which serve to grip the plasterboard panels.

These panels have, inside them, a polystyrene expanded coat to improve the thermal insulation.

The joints are finished with special joint tape.

The panels have laid a plastic paint finished.

Finally, the skirting has been nailed.